THE WEATHER.

The daily record of the thermometer in this city for yesterday, as reported by C. W. Brandon, was as follows: 7 a. m., 36 degrees above; 12 m., 44 degrees above; 4 p. m., 42 degrees above; 8 p. m., 35 degrees above.

ABOUT THE CITY.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Dan Connolly of West Fourth street, a daughter, on Nov. 24.

Miss Thomson, teacher in the Chestnut street school, is in Deer Lodge visiting her sister.

There are a great many cases of typhoid fever in this city at present and the doctors are kept pretty busy.

Miss Josie McDonald arrived yesterday from Illinois to spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. C. W. Brandon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie have rented L. O. Leonard's residence on Oak street, and will take possession about Dec. 1.

The three little children of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Loece of Fourth street are recovering from a severe attack of typhoid fever.

J. F. Kennedy left yesterday for a brief pleasure trip to Salt Lake. He has greatly improved in health since his arrival in Montana.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Cosgrove of West Park avenue had special cause for Thanksgiving on Thursday, their home being brightened by the birth of a daughter.

J. M. Moore's two little children are sick with scarlet fever. It is said there are several other cases of this disease in the city at present and some fear is expressed of an epidemic.

St. Mark's church—First Sunday in Advent, morning prayer, litany and sermon at 11 o'clock. Evening prayer and lecture at 7:30. Sunday school at 2:30 o'clock. Subject of lecture in the evening, "The Witness of Prophecy to Christ." J. C. Quinn, rector.

Two hobos, who resemble the lilies of the field in that they toll neither do they spin, were run in by the officers early yesterday morning. They were arraigned in police court yesterday and given two hours to leave town, and when the curtains of night were pulled back by the stars, their camp fires gleamed in the valley many miles from here. They never will be missed in these parts.

The following names were inscribed upon the register of the Montana hotel yesterday: C. Blund, San Francisco; William A. Allen, New York; Joe Lowenstein, San Francisco; Lee Cohn, Butte; Julius Sullivan, San Francisco; Frank A. Uhlund, Union Pacific railway; L. V. Wertheimer, Butte; E. V. Maze, Butte; D. M. Durfee and wife, Deer Lodge; J. M. Moore, Butte; L. B. Gorham, C. R. I. & P. railway; C. E. Daymude, Butte; J. C. Maslin, Chicago; M. E. Rounds, Indianapolis; B. L. Cory, Helena; John MacFarlane, Butte; F. E. Sargent, Butte; Julius Levy, Butte; Mack Shankland, New York; L. T. McKay, Demersville.

"U and I."

Mirth and melody will reign supreme at the opera house to-night. "U and I," the great laughing success of the past season will form the attraction. This delightful skit will be remembered as a bright satire on the apartment house system of New York, and deals with a strange assortment of characters and dispositions coming together within the four walls of a Gotham flat. It fairly teems with wit. Laughable situations follow each other with such rapidity that there can be no cessation of enjoyment, no interruption of the merriment. The principal roles are in the hands of John T. Kelly and Dorch Daly, who are indescribably funny as O'Donovan Jones and Prof. Ungerblot.

The Highland Club.

The Highland club is a new social organization that has sprung into life in this city. It was organized last night with about 50 charter members and the following officers: John Lyons, president; H. R. Burg, secretary; H. Redmond, treasurer; F. C. Howard, William L. Creeden, N. J. Mershon, M. J. Foley, E. E. Weaver, directors.

The club will give several dances during the winter and otherwise provide social entertainments for its members and their friends.

Notice to All Whom It May Concern.

I hereby give notice that as my wife Delmina Deslauriers has left my bed and board without cause or reason, and is now living separate and apart from me without cause and without reason, that I will not be responsible for any debts that she may contract in my name or for or on my account in any manner whatsoever.

Dated, Anaconda, Montana, Nov. 27, 1891.

LOST IN THE MOUNTAINS

John Akers Supposed to Have Perished in the Oleson Gulch.

THE SNOW BANK HIS GRAVE

He Left Anaconda Last Sunday and Since Then Has Not Been Seen—Searching Parties Are Out in the Hills.

Last Saturday John Akers, a resident of Butte and one of the most widely-known of the pioneers in this part of the state, came to Anaconda. On Sunday morning he started up the canyon for Oleson gulch where he had some mining claims. Since then he has never been seen, and his friends fear his lifeless body is buried in the snow-drifts about 10 miles west of this city. He was heading for the George mine and was carrying a gun and a pair of rubber boots when he left here.

Late Sunday afternoon some men from the George mine on their way to this city found the boots and gun at the foot of a tree on the mountain side about two miles this side of the George. They also saw tracks in the snow drifts and supposed that some hunter was in that vicinity and left his burden at the tree and had gone off a short distance and would soon return, so they left the stuff where they found it.

Nothing more was thought of the matter until Wednesday, when the same party of men were returning to the George mine from this city and found the gun and boots had not been touched. Then they arrived at the conclusion that there was something wrong and began making investigations.

Word was sent to Anaconda and some of Akers' friends at once concluded that the stuff found belonged to him. They went up and found that they were correct in their surmises—the boots, gun and cartridge belt were the same that Akers carried out of Anaconda Sunday morning.

At once search was instituted for the missing man. It was found that he had not been seen at any of the mining camps up in that district. The men whom he had been working on some claims up there, and whom he had left Anaconda to see, had not seen him. Within a few hundred yards of the place where the gun was found they discovered traces of his struggles in the snow banks which at that point are about eight feet deep. But at a point where the wind had blown the snow from the mountain side they lost track of him, and it is feared his body is buried under several feet of snow and will not be found until the summer sun once more bares the mountain side.

There is but little hope entertained of finding Akers alive. All day Sunday and for three days following the winds blew with unusual fierceness. The snow drifted about in that region in a blinding manner and it is very probable that Akers, feeling himself unable to make his way against the fierce storm, deposited his traps at the foot of the tree and continued his journey until he fell exhausted in the snow.

Some men have been searching since Wednesday and several more left this city yesterday to join the party now in the gulch. Chet Morris, an old friend of Akers, came in from Oleson gulch last night and will go back with more men to-day to continue the search. Mr. Morris says the snow in that region is three feet deep on the level, and it has drifted so much that it is not possible to follow any trail which Akers may have left in the banks before he fell. Morris also says the missing man was subject to fits, and it is possible he may have fallen and perished during one of these spells.

Akers was not addicted to the use of intoxicants to any extent, and he was a man of fairly good physique. But those who know say he could not have braved the storm that raged in that region the first two days of this week had he been possessed of the frame of a Samson.

Up to a late hour last night no news of the missing man had been received.

BILL THE BURGLAR.

Joe Grismer Will Show How a Bad Man Can Be Converted.

At Evans opera house on Tuesday evening next, Dec. 1, Joseph Grismer and Phoebe Davies, with their own company, will be the attraction. They produce for the first time here the beautiful comedy drama, "The Burglar," of which the Helena Independent says: "The Burglar," as portrayed at Ming's opera house last night, is a great success. This very clever play, adapted from Mrs. Burnett's story by Gus Thomas, was produced to a crowded house. It was a very friendly assemblage that gathered to welcome Mr. Grismer and Miss Phoebe Davies in their latest venture, and was as critical as it was kindly, but there is very little room for comment, otherwise than complimentary, on the play and performance.

Mr. Grismer as Bill the Burglar lost himself in the part and looked and acted the character to the life; he developed a vein of genuine pathos that brought the tears to the eyes of many of the audience. His acting throughout the entire play shows careful study and a clear conception of the part. Miss Davies has rather a subdued character to play, and she shows that she understands what is expected of her, and acts with much grace and naturalness. She had a rousing welcome when she appeared, and the number of beautiful flowers that were given her showed what a place she has in the regard of her friends and the public generally. Little Laura Crews, however, divided the honors with the principals. Letter perfect in his part, she played with such a serious air that even in the comical parts her earnestness made her lines even more funny. She is a remarkable child and displays great intelligence in her acting.

THIS IS THE DAY.

Katzenstein & Cohen Will Open Their Fine New Store This Morning.

To-day the new firm of Katzenstein & Cohen will open their splendid new store at the corner of First and Cherry streets. It will be one of the finest stocked and most extensive mercantile establishments in this part of the state. Their stock will be entirely new; every article from cellar to garret is fresh from the best markets of the East. They will carry a full line of gents' furnishing goods, boots and shoes, hats, caps, and clothing. They declare that they intend to sell goods at such prices that custom is bound to come to them.

The members of the new firm are well known in Anaconda as reliable business men and good citizens. Mr. Cohen has been in business in Anaconda for several years, and during that time has earned the esteem of his townsmen. He is enterprising, and his determination to remain in business in this city is good news for all who have the best interests of the city at heart. Mr. Katzenstein is also an energetic, reliable and popular gentleman. He has decided to remain in this city permanently. The new firm is bound to secure a fair share of the trade.

ELMER HAD THE STUFF.

Mr. Finney Patronizes a Saloon That Had an Enterprising Bartender.

Elmer Finney had $5 yesterday when he entered the 5-cent joint kept by Anderson in Keeffe's old place on the corner of Main and Front streets. Elmer met four friends in the saloon and he asked them to have a drink, and like the loyal friends they were, they did not refuse. When Elmer came to settle the bill with the bartender, Albert Swanson, there was trouble. Swanson had seen that Finney had a little money, and when the latter called for the drinks Swanson had invited all the rounders in the place up to the bar and "rung them in" on Finney. This is an old game of enterprising saloon keepers of Swanson's sort and it generally works all right because few men when they have the money care to kick after the thing is over. But Finney isn't of that kind of people. He likes to kick under such circumstances and he told Swanson he would pay for the drinks of the four men whom he had asked to the bar and no more. Swanson has plus back of all his enterprise, and he promptly knocked Finney down and proceeded to soften his toughened hide by pounding it with a bottle. Bystanders interfered and Finney swore out a warrant against Swanson, charging him with assault. Judge Rockwell didn't like Albert's methods of collecting a debt and he promptly assessed the pugnacious bartender $10 and costs.

Numerous complaints have been heard against the manner in which this place is being conducted by Anderson and his assistants. It was in this saloon that a prize fight took place the other day between two of Anderson's customers who were egged on by the proprietor to pound one another for the amusement of a crowd of bystanders. Being on the main street and in the business portion of the city the place is becoming a public nuisance.

NO MORE BACKACHE
OREGON KIDNEY TEA
Recently the following notice appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle.
"Judge S.—had been sick only about two weeks, and it was not until the last three or four days that the malady took a serious turn. At the beginning of his illness he suffered from diabetes and stomach disorder. Later the kidneys refused to perform their functions and he passed quietly away. Thus ended the life of one of the most prominent men in California." Like thousands of others his untimely death was the result of neglecting early symptoms of kidney disease.
IF YOU are troubled with diabetes, gravel, or any derangement of the kidneys or urinary organs, don't delay proper treatment until you are forced to give up your daily duties; don't waste your money on worthless liniments and worse plasters, but strike at the seat of the disease at once by using the greatest of all known remedies, the celebrated Oregon Kidney Tea. It has saved the lives of thousands. Why should it not cure you? Try it. Purely vegetable and pleasant to take. $1.00 a package, 6 for $5.00.
